Does your dog travel with you? Is your dog ever exposed to mosquitoes? Does your dog play or walk in communal dog areas?

If the answer is yes to any of these questions, your pup is at risk for the fatal parasite called Heartworm, as well as a multitude of other contagious fecal parasites. Heartworm is spread by infected mosquitos and after time the worms mature and take over the canine heart. Heartworm infections are extremely difficult and dangerous to treat. The good news is that heartworm prevention is extremely effective, inexpensive, and easy! By giving one chewable tablet once a month to your pup this will protect it from heartworm, the fatal disease that kills and infects hundreds of thousands of pets each year. Interceptor Plus is a dewormer for your pets that also prevents and kills fecal parasites such as tapeworms, hookworms, roundworms and whipworms. Your pet can pick up these contagious parasites by walking on infected soil or grass where contagious dogs defecate. These parasites are microscopic, and some are contagious to humans. As long as your pet has a current examination you can come in at your convenience for the heartworm test and Interceptor Plus. Our trained technicians will be happy to draw a small blood sample and we will have the results in approx. 15-20 minutes.

Every pet must have a negative heartworm test prior to dispensing heartworm preventative.
